Introduction

Green Seal® is a global nonprofit committed to making sustainability everyone's business. The ecolabelling movement we pioneered decades ago has helped people make informed purchasing decisions and driven the marketplace toward healthier, greener choices.

Today, hundreds of the world's leading companies carry our certification to quickly signal how they've met a high benchmark of health and environmental leadership. Our trusted certification mark helps shoppers cut through the chaos to find products that meet truly comprehensive health and sustainability standards - from beginning to end. We strictly protect the use of the Green Seal trademarks to protect the value and integrity of our certification.

This document contains the requirements and guidelines for the use of Green Seal trademarks by licensees, retailers, and third-party distributors of Green Seal-certified products and services. Labeling products and promoting them with Green Seal trademarks helps consumers make safer, green choices with confidence. It is essential that Green Seal trademarks are used correctly, do not mislead customers or the public about certification claims, and are not associated with quality aspects beyond those covered by Green Seal certification.

The Green Seal trademarks are the primary communications tool for Green Seal licensees to demonstrate that their products or services meet our standards. Our trademarks are designed to enhance your brand and highlight your sustainability leadership. Ensuring that our trademarks are used appropriately maintains their credibility and allows businesses to leverage the trust we have built with purchasers and consumers. This guide will help you use our globally recognized trademarks for the promotion of Green Seal and Green Seal-certified products, spaces, and services.

Section 1 introduces the Green Seal trademarks and graphics. Sections 2-7 present specifics on their purposes, conditions for use, and permitted applications. Section 8 gives graphic designers information on downloading digital files of the images and specifications for their use in print and online communications. Section 9 provides guidance on use of Green Seal's copyrighted material, including Green Seal standards.

For general questions about using the Green Seal marks or graphics, please contact your Green Seal project manager or e-mail marketing@greenseal.org.

Certification Mark

This registered mark can be used only on products and services that are currently Green Seal-certified. Its use is strictly limited. See Section 3.

Innovation Certification Mark

Manufacturers earn Green Seal Innovation Certification by complying with the GS-20 Standard for Environmental Innovation. See Section 4.

Hotel Certification

Hotels earn Gold, Silver, or Bronze certification by complying with the GS-33 Standard for Hotels and Lodging Properties. Certified establishments can use additional Green Seal promotional images and signage for guests. See Section 5.

Promotional Graphic

This and similar graphics may be used by companies or facilities that sell, produce, provide, or use Green Seal–certified products or services. See Section 6.

Verification Graphic

Manufacturers of materials, ingredients, or packaging that can be used in Green Seal–certified products may use these graphics on websites or in generic marketing materials. See Section 7.

2. Corporate Logo

This logo is used on Green Seal corporate materials and signage, as well as in references to the organization, Green Seal.

When referencing the Green Seal organization in text, the first or most predominant appearance of Green Seal must be followed by the registration mark, ®, as in this example:

Green Seal® was founded in 1989.

Rules for Use

No person shall use the Green Seal Corporate Logo or any portion thereof in connection with any product or service, or represent or imply in any way that a product or service has been certified by Green Seal.

The Green Seal Corporate Logo may be used in product advertising, promotional materials, or product literature provided the items do not represent or imply that any uncertified products or services have been certified.

Approval of Use

Green Seal must review and approve, in advance, the use of the Green Seal name, the Green Seal Corporate Logo, or any representations concerning the Green Seal program. Contact marketing@greenseal.org for approval.

Reproduction and Design

For access to digital files and information on sizing and color, see Instructions for Graphic Designers (Section 8).

3. Certification Mark

Rules Regarding the Use of the Green Seal Certification Mark

Green Seal issues manufacturers and service providers that have received certification a written license to use the Green Seal Certification Mark as part of product literature and marketing materials directly related to the certified product or service. Any use of the mark requires approval by Green Seal. Several variations of the mark are available; however, we strongly encourage companies to use the version that includes the descriptor (“meets a high standard for protecting people and planet”) whenever possible to promote consumer awareness and understanding of the value of the certification.

Examples of Permitted Uses:

On the label or packaging of Green Seal-certified product:

On a manufacturer's website, directly referring to a Green Seal-certified product:

In a manufacturer's literature, next to certified products:

In a catalog listing, describing specific certified products:

TISSUE & TOWELS
	#P1248
	#P1367

Rules for Use

The Green Seal Certification Mark is a legally protected trademark of Green Seal. No person shall use a Green Seal trademark or any portion thereof in connection with any product or service, or represent or imply in any way that a product or service has been certified by Green Seal, unless Green Seal has confirmed, in writing, that the product or service is certified.

Use of the Green Seal Certification Mark in connection with a product or service constitutes a representation that the product or service is in full compliance with the relevant published Green Seal standard, and that the product or service is subject to a valid Certification Agreement with Green Seal. The licensee assumes full and complete responsibility for its use of the mark and agrees that it will, through proper inspection or otherwise, determine that any products or services bearing the mark are in compliance with the requirements of Green Seal.

Use with Other Claims

Green Seal reviews all claims made in conjunction with Green Seal trademarks. Green Seal trademarks cannot be used in conjunction with any claims that might mislead consumers as to the extent or nature of Green Seal certification.

› “Claims” includes modifying terms, phrases, or graphic images.

“In conjunction with” means “in immediate proximity or direct reference to,” such that the claim can be understood to explain or qualify the Green Seal trademark. Health, environmental, or other claims made as part of a product’s name (e.g., “Brand Name Biodegradable Baby Wipes”) are considered to be made in conjunction with the Green Seal trademark and must be reviewed and approved by Green Seal prior to using the Green Seal mark.

Use in Advertising and Marketing

The Green Seal Certification Mark may be used in advertising or promotional materials for certified products and services provided the label or materials do not represent or imply that the company, other products or services, associated equipment, dispensers, or dispensing systems have been certified.

The Green Seal Certification Mark cannot be used in conjunction with any modifying terms, phrases, or graphic images that might mislead consumers as to the extent or nature of the certification.

Use of the Certification Mark must be directly tied to a specific certified product or service. For example, use of the mark is not permitted in these cases:

- on a website page that does not include the certified product or service
- on a footer for the entire company website
- in an e-mail signature or company letterhead
- on company-wide marketing materials
- in any other manner where the mark is not directly tied to a specific certified product or service

Exceptions may be made for Green Seal–certified cleaning services in certain cases with prior written approval.

If only part of a product is certified, the certified element must be specifically identified in conjunction with the Certification Mark. For example, if a certified product is sold as part of a package along with an uncertified product, the marketing materials must clarify which product is certified.

See Promotional Graphics (Section 6) for images that may be used more generally by companies or organizations that sell or use Green Seal–certified products or services.

Use on Packaging

The primary package containing the certified product should be clearly marked with the Green Seal Certification Mark.

Use by Retailers and Distributors

Retailers, third-party distributors of Green Seal–certified products, and other parties that are not licensed partners of Green Seal may use the Green Seal Certification Mark only with express written approval and in direct reference to a specific product that is currently certified by Green Seal. Currently certified products are listed in the Green Seal Certified Directory, at greenseal.org.

All such uses of the Certification Mark must be approved in writing by the company that obtained certification for its product or service (the licensee) and by Green Seal. Contact marketing@greenseal.org for approval, or if you need assistance obtaining approval from the licensee.

Approval of Use

Green Seal must review and approve in advance, prior to printing or publishing, the use of its name, the Certification Mark, or any representations concerning its program. Submit proposed uses to certification@greenseal.org.

To assist Green Seal’s oversight of the use of its trademarks, the licensee shall provide Green Seal with copies of all uses of the Certification Mark upon request.

Compliance with Consumer Protection Laws

License holders are responsible for their own compliance with the consumer protection laws in the countries in which their products are promoted and their promotional materials are distributed.

Rules for Use

The provider must have verification from Green Seal that its materials or ingredients meet the requirements of the given standard. Use of the Verification graphics does not and must not imply that the verified product is Green Seal-certified.

Approval of Use

Green Seal may request review and approval in advance of the use of its name, the graphics, or any representations concerning its program. Green Seal may request the name and contact information of any product distributor or sales representative(s), date of verification, and most recent monitoring for services, or a print sample or photo of the use of verification graphics.
